METHUSELAH APPOINTED HEAD OF INQUIRY.

A public inquiry ?

No – we don't want an inquiry chaired by Lord Dithering Fuckwit into "Was Her Majesty's Government too slow to respond to the Corona Virus threat"

Even now the government is casting through likely lickspittles – ex lords, ministers – who might stay alive long enough for a 10 year report when most of those investigated will be too doolally to last the course.

Think of the Grenfell inquiry entering its third year and still no arrests by the police, the main names in the frame not even questioned. Chuck in the 30 years of Hillsborough which destroyed families who nursed hope for all that time.

If Grenfell had 72 deaths and ain't got anywhere in three years , how long is investigating 40, 000 deaths going to take?

"Knock it into the long grass old boy".

We don't want any sort of inquiry – ten days or ten years. The guilty are on our tellies every fucking day.

Let's get Johnson, Raab, Gove and Co. arrested on corporate manslaughter charges and kept in custody to the trial. Or indeed as Philip Pullman suggests – arrest the whole cabinet on murder charges.

They are class war criminals who have destroyed tens of thousands of working class lives. They must suffer the consequences.

BOSS HIDES IN SWISS MANSION

"It's like Christmas every day, going on forever, with 30% of the office off sick." That is how postal workers are describing their workload during the coronavirus crisis. Many people will have seen photos of mail centre floors and yards full of parcels. The pressure is never-ending. The workload is ridiculous, social distancing is patchy, you've got a constant nagging worry about what you might be picking up, what you might be taking home to your family. People are breaking down in tears but they put on a brave face, put on fancy dress for the kids and go out on their way once more.

The fourth emergency service is how they are being described. But don't forget the Tories and the Lib-Dems privatised them. Royal Mail is no longer a service but a business. So mail centres have been "rationalised," staffing levels have been cut – and an absentee fat-cat CEO rakes in the profits while his workers struggle on without PPE, without sanitiser. Because managers say "the government advice is to wash your hands." Oh yes? Where exactly? They know nothing – and care less!

Too many of our comrades are sick – and too many have died. They're still in dispute with their employer, but suspended their action to support the national effort. It will come back, as these profit-scrappers look to cut still more from the service that the whole country relies on. When it does, remember who was still delivering to your door and who was hiding in his Swiss mansion. Remember what side you're on.

PIZZA HUT PAY UP

Pizza Hut workers from six South London stores of the ATEAM franchise have now been left without pay for 5 weeks, and not placed on furlough. The workers have been demanding answers from franchise owner Simon Byrne for some time, meanwhile Pizza Hut has shown minimal engagement.

The nearly 40 workers have been left in a dire financial situation, with missed rent- and bill payments and mounting overdraft charges. Pizza Hut must act now!

Obviously these workers are fuming, and had no option but to call a socially distanced exercise session outside Penge Pizza Hut on Wednesday evening to put pressure on Pizza Hut to do the right thing & pay them what they're owed. They are showing no signs of backing down and have vowed to continue fighting until they are paid in full. They're calling on support from anyone who is able to come out and support upcoming actions at other Pizza Hut branches until their demands are met. Especially in the current climate, working class people need to stick together and fight against exploitative employers who think they can walk all over us. We need to win this and we need to win soon.

Letter to the editor...

Dear Editor

You Class War lot seem to be the sort who have your fingers on the pulse.

I was wondering if you could answer the following:

That song by Billy Paul - Me and Mrs Jones – do you reckon that cafe where they meet every day is closed during lockdown? What has become of their secret tryst?

Yours
M A Gove MP
